

EMPLOYERS!

GIVE YOUR ORGANISATION A BOOST

Develop your organisation, your community and your young people with StreetGames' apprenticeships! We can work with you to get ready to train apprentices who will start from Autumn 2017 onwards.

WHAT IS AN APPRENTICESHIP

Apprenticeships are a mix of learning at work and off-the-job learning. The employer pays the apprentice a wage and the government pays for most or all of the training. Apprenticeships allow you to bring new talent through the ranks and to equip your team with the skills your organisation needs to succeed.

A new starter or an existing member of staff can become an apprentice and you get up to £9,000 of training to skill them up. The apprenticeship usually lasts between 12-20 months.

Apprenticeships for Activating Communities

There are two new qualifications that equip candidates for work in the sport and activity sector. The standards have been written by forward thinking employers from across the sector, and embody the skills and knowledge that are needed now and in the future. Learning with StreetGames will ensure the apprentice specialises in working in low-income areas. On completion the apprentice must perform tasks confidently and competently to the standard set by the industry to achieve the qualification.

Community Activator Coach (Level 2) – The Activator Coach leads and coaches fun, inclusive and engaging activities that help people of all ages to change their behaviour and adopt and maintain a physically active lifestyle.

The apprentice Level 2 Activator Coach will learn how to activate groups in not-very-active communities and how to mobilise the power of sport to harvest sport-for-good outcomes.

Community Sport & Health Officer (Level 3) – The CSHO designs programmes that make a real difference to their target neighbourhood.

The apprentice CSHO will master the asset based approach to community development in sport and well-being. The learning programme supports the individual to scope, organise and coordinate the delivery of opportunities for communities by getting more from private, public and third sector partners.

"We have seen first-hand the positive impact apprenticeships have on the lives of young people in Salford and the wider local community"

Steve Hassall, Chief Executive of Salford Community Leisure

"The setup is very good in that it enables you to gain skills, qualifications and valuable experience as you go along... The support was great – everyone wants the best for you"

Traineeship participant, 2016

How will it work?

StreetGames Training Academy will work with you to find the most appropriate support for the individual and your organisation. Most of the training is on-the-job, working with a mentor to learn job specific skills.

Employing an apprentice

An apprentice can be of any age and employing one is just like employing any other member of staff. In order to comply with apprenticeship requirements, all employers must guarantee the following:

- They should be employed for 30 hours per week and have a contract of employment for the length of time needed to complete the apprenticeship training – between 12 and 20 months.
- You must provide a safe and healthy working environment
- You are required to release the apprentice for their training.

GOVERNMENT FUNDING PAYS FOR THE TRAINING

For the StreetGames apprenticeships the majority of (and in many cases all) the training costs are likely to be paid for by government funding.

Why choose StreetGames as the learning provider for your apprentices?

- The StreetGames Training Academy is on the Register of Apprenticeship Training Providers.
- Our commitment to quality is repeatedly praised by Awarding Organisations.
- We are most proud of our reputation for success with young people who are keen to learn but are unlikely to achieve qualifications through less supported routes.
- We are specialists in actually doing the work that the apprentices are learning to do.
